

KEY CONCERNS WITH PCP

The FCM ICLEI PCP Program includes extensive Data Collections, Reduction Targets, Climate Action Plans and Capital Expenditures.

- Local Autonomy: Global agendas reduce local control.
- Financial Burden: Ongoing, unclear costs.
- Privacy Risks: Community data collection raises concerns.
- Housing Impact: Increases urbanization, affects affordability.
- Local Issues: Global goals overshadow urgent local needs.
- Much More: Read our Reports.

STEPS
TO LOCALISM

CANADA IS NET ZERO

- CO₂ is plant food, not a pollutant.
- CO₂ makes up only 0.04% of the atmosphere.
- Canada, is vast, cold and sparsely populated country.
- Canadians use fuel for heating, cooking, and travel.
- Our extensive forests act as major carbon sinks, absorbing far more CO₂ than we produce.
- Canada's net CO₂ contribution is minimal on a global scale and is effectively insignificant.

LOCALISM OVER GLOBALISM

UNBURDENING
MUNICIPAL COUNCILS
FROM GLOBAL PROGRAMS

THE PHILOSOPHY OF LOCALISM

UN Sustainable Development schemes divert population growth from rural to urban settings, fueling the urban crises in housing, affordability and mental health and the decline of small town services.

Over 500 Canadian municipalities, are participating in the FCM ICLEI Partners for Climate Protection Program (PCP), diverting funds from local to global priorities.

The Federation of Canadian Municipalities (FCM), Government of Canada, and ICLEI Canada have waived liability for the implementation of this program, placing sole responsibility on local councils.

Municipal councils are urged to reclaim local autonomy and refocus on community needs.

ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP

CO₂ reduction programs even overshadow local environmental stewardship efforts:

- Tree Planting and Green Spaces
- Local Food Production
- Waste Management Programs
- Reuse Centers
- Hazardous Waste Drop-Offs

We recommend Local Councils Withdraw from the FCM ICLEI Partners for Climate Protection (PCP) Program and reallocate funding towards local environmental stewardship programs.
